The Garden of Rtapalli

A beautiful garden attracts many. When we enter a garden we see many different colours and enjoy the fragrance (ସୁବାସ/ବାସ୍ନା) in the air. Champak (ଚମ୍ପା) is different from jasmine (ମଲ୍ଲି), which is different from hibiscus (ମନ୍ଦାର) or tuberose (ରଜନୀଗନ୍ଧା). Each has its own beauty and fragrance. All the plants together form the beautiful garden. A good garden is the result of a lot of hard work, love, and care.

Now take a second and look around. You will find many flowers ready to blossom (ଫୁଟିବା, ପ୍ରସ୍ତୁତିତ ହବା). Children are the flowers in this beautiful garden of God. Now think again and think about yourself. You speak so sweetly and behave so kindly. That is your beauty and fragrance. God has given you intellect (ଧୀଶକ୍ତି, ବୁଦ୍ଧି) and many different abilities (ଦକ୍ଷତା), all of which will help you grow in life.

Will you come to the Garden of Rtapalli to grow and spread your beauty and fragrance?

One day, you will perhaps grow into a doctor, a teacher or a scientist. Or maybe a singer, a writer or, who knows, a rishi. As we grow it is important to remember that a rose-bush comes with thorns that keep many people away. Similarly, a brilliant student with arrogance keeps people away. Some people think, “What is the value of a flower if it is not offered to God?” Similarly, some of our rishis thought, “What is the purpose of life if it is not offered to God by serving our fellow human beings?”
